

Wanjing (Kelly) CHEN

(240)490-0804 | chenwanjing0726@gmail.com | Norfolk, VA | Authorized to work in the United States

PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

- Social scientist with 10+ years of experience developing and conducting mixed methods research using survey, interview, and focus group.
- Educator with 7+ years of experience teaching and providing technical training in university setting.
- Skills in applied research design, statistical analysis, and reporting for program evaluation.
- Domain knowledge in SCHEV policies and procedures built through institutional training.

SKILLS

Technical Skills: Excel, MS Access, Word, PowerPoint, SPSS, Tableau, Python, QGIS, Banner.

EXPERIENCE

Adjunct Assistant Professor
Old Dominion University

Jan 2025 – Present
Norfolk, Virginia

- Develop and instruct three undergraduate and graduate-level courses in political science and geography.
- Conduct online, mail-in, and CATI-based surveys administered by the ODU Social Science Research Center.
- Build domain knowledge in SCHEV policies and procedures, and institutional assessment and accreditation through in-house training.

Monitor and Evaluation Specialist
Consilient

Jul 2024 – Present
Remote Work

- Lead and participate in project teams to provide evaluative research design and reporting services, helping clients convey the impact of their work to funding agencies.
- Use Excel, SPSS, and Tableau to clean and analyze data from multiple sources (survey, interview, platform data) and generate compelling visualization and reports to convey insight to non-technical audience.
- Create and manage a self-serve data portal that scales the efficiency of business development by 6 times.
- Provide ad hoc data support for cross-functional team.

Research Assistant Professor, Department of Social Science
Hong Kong University of Science and Technology (fixed-term contract)

Sep 2020 – August 2022
Hong Kong

- Conceptualized, designed, and executed research projects using both quantitative and qualitative methodologies.
- Produced 17 peer-reviewed articles, 20 presentations at national and global conferences, and 4 multimedia publications targeting both technical and non-technical audience.
- Lead teams of teaching assistant to created and deliver courses in social science.

Research and Teaching Assistant
University of Wisconsin-Madison

Sep 2014 – Jul 2020
Madison, Wisconsin

- Built, cleaned, and managed original datasets of nearly 500 surveys and 100 key informant interviews on Chinese outbound investment, conducted data analyses, and produced a book-length dissertation.
- Led small group discussion and delivered guest lectures in online and in-person courses in geography.
- Served as graduate student liaison on the geography department's curriculum committee.

EDUCATION

- Ph.D. in Geography, University of Wisconsin-Madison 2020
Trained to utilize statistics, survey, and qualitative methods to extract trends and patterns from both primary and secondary data.
- MSc in Geography, Beijing Normal University 2014
- BSc in Geography Information System, Beijing Normal University 2011